

DEDICATION

This work is dedicated to the spirit and memory of

Rich Quadagno,

Humboldt Bay National Wildlife Refuge Manager

Rich was passionate about improving public access to the Refuge. He was the most action-oriented land manager in the Humboldt Bay region with whom we worked on this project. Rich embodied the goals of this project – to expedite ways to help more people understand and care for the bay.

Rich was killed in a September 11, 2001 plane hijacking, but his spirit and his work live on.

MANY THANKS

To those who dedicated special time and effort to this project, particularly:

Moira McEnespy and Karyn Gear, patient project managers, guides and reviewers; Mark Wheatley, the original project visionary; the Cities of Arcata and Eureka, the Humboldt Bay Harbor, Recreation and Conservation District and Humboldt Bay National Wildlife Refuge, enthusiastic partners; and Melvin McKinney, tireless bay advocate.

A special thanks to those who made the printing of this final document possible.
